NEWS

As of 30 June 2023, the net asset value of BNP Paribas Diversipierre stands at €109.79 per share P, down 2.17% over the month (i.e. -€2.44 per share).

The reinvested dividend performance of BNP Paribas Diversipierre since 1st January 2023 is therefore established at -5.00%.

In June, your OPCI acquired a new-build office asset located in the center of Lisbon, Portugal. The asset is 4,100 sqm and is mainly rent by the top management of an international consulting firm through a long-term lease. This acquisition aims to strengthen the geographical diversification of the real estate physical assets of your OPCI.

The contributions to the change in the net asset value are illustrated in the graph below. The negative contribution of real estate physical assets is mainly due to the further decline in the overall asset valuations of European real estate, linked to the rise in interest rates, partially offset by rent indexation. To date, the decline in the value of your OPCI's real estate assets remains contained in comparison to the broader real estate market. According to the central macroeconomic forecast scenario prepared by BNP Paribas, the decline in real estate values should be essentially completed by the end of 2023. We foresee new increases in valuation during 2024, driven by the outlook for significant rent growth, which will benefit the yield of the portfolio and the value of the buildings. The real estate portfolio should thus see its value stabilizing by year-end and record a good level of performance over the next year, in line with previous years.
